Do you Need Buildings?

If you do and put off building because lumber is high, are you not making a mistake?

There is not any prospect at present of lumber prices going down much for a number of years, and the comfort you and your family will get out of a good house will more than repay any extra cost. If it is a barn or machine shed you need your live stock and the life of your machinery will more than repay any extra cost.

Our prices, however, are not high, our price list mailed to you on request, will prove that the quality is of the best and is thoroughly air dried.

The result of the Referendum last Monday as regards the Crossfield District was as follows:

Crossfield Town	Yes 67	No 19
Country	48	25
Sampsonston	47	15
Elba	35	2
Total	Yes 197	No 61

A heavy vote was polled in the village, practically every voter turned out. But the country vote was not so complete. This was probably due to the exceptionally busy season. The province has given a verdict of between ten and fifteen thousand against the importation of liquor into the province. This will mean an opportunity for greater provincial control, which has been greatly needed. The legislation is expected to take effect in sixty days, and it will then be up to the Alberta Government to carry out the will of the people. Very few people have been satisfied with the lawlessness and loose conditions which have been prevailing.

Take A Look Ahead

Are the people of Canada animated by the same spirit which was so characteristic of them during the war, and which alone made possible the splendid contribution made by this Dominion to the winning of the war? In the dark days between August, 1914, and November, 1918, the national existence of this Dominion was threatened and the liberties of the whole world hung in the balance. Our independence has been maintained and our freedom made secure, thanks to the patriotism and self-sacrificing efforts of the average man and woman. With the removal of the danger that threatened, have we lost that fine enthusiasm for Canada and the Empire which made us willing to bear all things with fortitude that victory might be achieved? In other words, while Canadians were willing to die for Canada, are they now prepared to live for Canada?

These questions force themselves upon our consciences from a consideration of certain grave and serious facts. During the war Canadians sacrificed and saved. They economized and gave without stint in the national cause. There was nothing niggardly in their contributions to the national strength and they withheld nothing, neither their lives nor their worldly means, in the effort put forth to win. For these reasons the period of the Great War will always stand out as a glorious page in Canada's history.

Now that the impelling incentive of the war and the will to victory is removed, has that altogether worthy uplifting of ourselves died? Or are Canadians as ready now to give of themselves and their means to carry the Dominion forward to the proud position it should occupy among the nations? The war has left heavy national obligations which honor demands shall be met; it has created new problems which must be faced and solved; it has created new conditions calling for the best that each and all can contribute to the nation.

It was imperative during the war that all people should avoid extravagances in living and expenditures, that they economize and through their savings add to the national strength. It is equally important they should now continue to practice these same virtues in order that Canada may develop and prosper. Signs are not lacking, however, pointing to the fact that, unfortunately, many Canadians are not now being governed by the same motives which guided them during the war.

The trade returns clearly indicate that, taken as a whole, the people of Canada are spending too much and producing too little. At a time when Canadians should be buying as little as possible abroad in order to reduce our payments to other countries, the fact remains that we are buying more probably than ever before in our history, and that we are not producing for sale abroad anything like what should be produced. The result is, that whereas during the war there was a substantial balance of trade in favor of Canada, the reverse is now true, and there is a heavy and increasing debit balance against this country. As a consequence, we are continuing to suffer the national humiliation and loss of Canadian money being at a ruinous discount.

At this time when work is plentiful and wages high, it is not only a national duty, but plain commonsense for the individual, to save every dollar he can. This can best be done by cutting out all extravagances, particularly in the purchase of luxuries from abroad. There must inevitably be a recession from present high prices. A time of business depression will come sooner or later, and indications are not lacking that such a time is approaching. The far-seeing financial magnates and keen business men are preparing for it, and it behooves the farmer, workman and average citizen to do likewise.

During the war, and while the work of destruction was in progress, an artificial demand for goods of all kinds was created, especially when millions of men were withdrawn from productive enterprises. Following the war there was feverish activity to make good the losses occasioned by and in the war, and to restore the depleted stocks of goods the world over. The time approaches when this activity must cease because once again supply is overtaking the demand. Then must come reductions in prices and curtailment in work. A period of depression will follow.

This is not pessimism. It is but a frank statement of sound economic truth. It is logical and irresistible. It is supported by all past history and every proven economic law. The wise man will be governed accordingly. Just as during the real estate boom, the far-seeing and wise man unloaded before it was too late and values began to decline, so today such men are not spending all their earnings but are preparing for the day when money will not come quite so readily. Furthermore, such men realize that dollars earned and saved by them now will have a much greater purchasing power when conditions and prices become more normal.

To the extent that Canadians now practice economy, Canada will be strong and able to successfully weather the storm and stress of financial and business depression when it comes.

A Menagerie for the E. P. Ranch

A despatch from London, England, states that the Prince of Wales is collecting big game from Africa, as well as many smaller jungle animals from other countries, including Australia, for experimental purposes, in a small menagerie on his ranch in Alberta. Some of the Australian animals collected on his Australian tour accompanied him on this cruise on the Renown. The Prince plans to ship his collection to Alberta next spring.

Germany's Merchant Fleet.

Today Germany's merchant fleet is smaller than it was in 1871. The Versailles Treaty cut the fleet. Germany now has but 100,000 tons of ships for overseas traffic with capacity of greater than 1,000 tons.

"Pape's Diapiespin" for Indigestion

"Pape's Diapiespin" is the quickest, surest relief for Indigestion, Gas, Flatulence, Heartburn, Sourness, Fermentation or Stomach Distress caused by acidity. A few tablets give almost immediate stomach relief and shortly the stomach is corrected so you can eat favorite foods without fear. Large case costs only 60 cents at drug store. Absolutely harmless and pleasant. Millions helped annually. Largest selling stomach corrector in world.

For Colds, Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earsache, and for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuritis, take Aspirin marked with the name "Bayer" or you are not taking Aspirin at all. Accept only "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in an unbroken "Bayer" package. There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer".

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monocacetic acid of Salicylic acid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Compound will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross".

To Wed Blacksmith's Daughter.

Announcement of the betrothal of the Hon. Louis Chaudes Francis Temple, master of Kinloss, to Miss Katherine Jackman is made in the London Daily Mirror. The former is her presumptive to the title of Baron of Kinloss, having succeeded his brother, the Hon. Richard George Grenville, who was killed at the front in 1914, and the bride-elect is the daughter of the village blacksmith, whose cottage and forge are just outside the gates of Stowe Park, the Kinloss homestead.

U.F.A. READY FOR BIG DRIVE

Greenfield Confident that Alberta Organization will make Record Showing.

Herbert Greenfield, Westlock, Vice-President of U.F.A. and chairman of the U.F.A. organization committee, advises that everything is in readiness for the big drive during the first week in November.

Most of the preliminary work has been done and it is expected that on November 1st and November 2nd upwards of 3000 enthusiastic U.F.A. supporters will be in the field visiting their neighbors and soliciting for memberships in the association.

The organization work in both Manitoba and Saskatchewan has been progressing favorably and reports from "district captains" indicate that the morning of November 1st will see upwards of ten thousand active workers beginning their canvass in all the rural districts in the three provinces.

In this drive an endeavor will be made to have a representative of the farmers associations visit every resident farmer between the City of Winnipeg and the Rocky Mountains. The head of every household will be asked to contribute the sum of $6.00—no more no less. This amount will pay for a year's membership in the association, a year's subscription to the official organ and leave $2.00 to be used by the central and district boards for organization purposes.

Associated with Mr. Greenfield on the Alberta Organization Committee are L. M. Goetz of Red Deer and Snow Sears of Nanaimo. All are members of Board of Directors of the U.F.A. The committee has fixed an objective of 50,000 U.F.A. members for the year 1920 and all are confident that this figure will be reached.

Alberta Bred Horses
To Race At
New Orleans

York Road, Glen Alva
Lass and Calgary Lad
Going South For Big
Meet

Three Alberta bred horses are going to New Orleans for the racing season. These are York Road, Glen Alva Lass and Calgary Lad, owned by Ivan Oneil, and they are at present in the stables at Windsor, Ont. but will be shipped south for the big meet which opens on Thanksgiving Day in the States.

York Road, a four-year-old, and Calgary Lad, a three-year-old, were sired by Yorkshire Lad, a big thoroughbred from the old country, sire of Yorkist, a strong winner throughout the east this season.

At the last Calgary Fair, York Road took a first, and at Edmonton captured the premier position in two events. Glen Alva Lass finished second in a couple of big races.

Social at Elba

A Basket Social will be held at the Elba Schoolhouse, on Friday November 5th, beginning at 8 p.m. An entertaining evening will be spent. Miss Ruddy is training the children in a humorous dialogue entitled "Bridget's Party." Vocal solos will be given by Mrs. Bolick and Mr. Scholefield, and a duet by Messrs. Waldoek and Swenerton.

Readings are expected from Mrs. Will and Mr. Nicholson. A set of 75 Magic Lantern Slides will be shown by Rev. R. K. Swenerton. Refreshments will be provided in the baskets which will auctioned off. The ladies of Elba will also provide hot tea or coffee.

Love of The Wild

— BY —

ARCHIE P. MCKISHNIE

Printed by Special Arrangements with Thos. Allen, Toronto, Ont.

When the black rushes of the moonlit Eau hid his craft, the girl turned homeward on the path again. A tender smile was on her face, and the red blood was dancing in her veins. Her whole young being was alive and calling—calling—or she wondered what!

Where the woodland trail met the creek path a wide sheet of moonlight lay shrouding the dead leaves. When she reached this spot she clasped her hands and raised them to the deep chaotic arch of the skies—

"Boy," she breathed chokingly, "oh Boy—!" Then the long look hid her eyes and something splashed upon the dead sheeted leaves. "Oh God, I mean," she whispered, "take care of him; take care of Boy."

Far down in the dark swales a panther wailed and a loon sent its wild call from the marshlands. A fretting cloud drifted across the moon and the path darkened. The girl quickened her pace into a run. As she rounded a curve in the path she gave a little cry.

Standing directly in the path was a man.

"Don't be afraid," he said, "it's only me."

"You?" she repeated. "Oh, yes, it's Mr. Simpson. I must hurry on."

He did not attempt to move aside, and the girl's head went back and her eyes flashed.

"Please let me pass," she said impatiently.

Simpson laughed.

"All in good time. But I want to say something first. Won't you listen, Gloss?"

"If it's what you said before, I don't want to hear it," she answered.

"You—you mustn't keep me here; it's dangerous—dangerous for you."

"Or you?" he laughed.

He came toward her and she recoiled.

PIMPLES ON FACE OUTICURA HEALS

Caused Disfigurement. Itchy and Burning. Had Restless Nights.

"My face came out in little pimples that were sore, and I scratched them constantly, and then they turned into sores, causing much disfigurement. Therein was no pity that I tried to get rid of. The burning was fierce, and I had many restless nights."

"This trouble lasted about a year before I used Outicura Soap and Ointment, and after using three cakes of soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) W. Brynes, St. Beale, Que., Nov. 23, 1918.

Make Outicura Soap, Ointment and Talcum your daily skin preparations.

Box 256, Ointment 25 and 50c. Sold throughout the Dominion. Caution! Beware of cheap imitations. Limited, St. Paul, Minn., U.S.A. Sold everywhere without success.

"You held me once—in your arms," she panted, "and against my will. You mustn't hold me so again. If you do I'll kill you."

"I'll take the chance," he said hoarsely. "It's worth dying for. She stood tall and white before him. He reached for her hands—then something, a new and strange helplessness, overpowered him, and he sank trembling on the moss."

"Mr. Simpson," said the girl quietly, "you must go—for your own sake. You must go now."

"Gloss, oh Gloss!" he murmured, brokenly, "how I love you, girl! You cannot know how much. I was mad—mad—mad."

"No, I can't forgive you. I have no power to forgive you. I wasn't the one hurt once—it's not me who would hurt again."

"Don't say that," he cried. "I don't love you in my arms, and I kissed you. Yes, I held you in my arms—I kissed you—fear, trembling, his hair matted to his brow with perspiration."

"You told me you loved me," he repeated, "and I would give my life there to undo it or to do it."

"You have the power to do either," she said earnestly, "believe me, you have not."

"You are right," he sighed. "Oh, yes, you are right. That other night when I met you on the path I was actuated by a passing fancy—just a passing fancy. I took you in my arms. You struggled. I kissed you. I looked into your soul—and what I must forever be banished from, Gloss. Am I not punished? Do you think I can ever forget?"

"I don't know. Now, I must go. He stood aside and let her pass."

"Will you forgive?" he asked.

"Will you be strong?"

He shivered, but his moving lips gave out no sound.

When the moon trailed down below the tree-fringe of the forest he was still standing where he had left him. The panther's howl was still, but away down in the muck and marshlands the loon sent his weird cry to the cold stars.

CHAPTER XIV.

Paisley Reconnects.

The early autumn twilight had fallen when Bill Paisley stepped from the wood into the fallow. He dropped the long muzzle-loading rifle into the hollow of his arm and peered through the gathering dusk at wader Toheride.

"Why, there sure is a light at wider," he soliloquized, "the moon. Now, it might be that I'd find out some things we should know if I'd not drop over there casual-like. What I've heard concern' Watson, and Peeler seem' him and the teacher on the hill together, he aroused my suspicions to the point of put. I hope he's at the wider's to-night! I want to get to know him better," as Boy put it.

Paisley leaned against a tree and laughed silently.

"He don't like me very much. I can see that the other night. And I suppose it's natural that I shouldn't think much of him."

He walked on, his feet making not the slightest sound upon the sward that now gleamed golden-brown beneath the moonlight. At the edge of the creek he stepped into a skiff and with one movement of the paddle sent it sweeping into the rushes on the farther shore.

Widow Ross's home was built much after the style of the homes in Bushwhackers' Place. It was long and low and constructed of logs. The chimneys between the logs were filled with yellow-blue clay. Paisley approached the place cautiously, once or twice hesitating as if he would draw back. He opened the door gently in response to a loud "come in," and peered about the room as though in search of somebody.

At last, angular woman, dressed in native homespun, and working a huge spinning-wheel, turned as he entered, and, without taking her pipe from her mouth, said shortly:

"Shut that door, Bill Paisley. And you, Tom Ross, stop terrifyin' that."

A freckle-faced lad of about nine arose from a corner and, administering a last wholesome kick at a sickly looking pussie, came shuffling forward.

"Hello, Bill," he said, "what's new? I heard that you and the rest of the Bushwhackers was actin' balky with Colonel Halliburton for wantin' to buy your timber. What's the matter?"

"Want to keep our timber to make bows and arrows with," answered Paisley dryly. "How's things at the mill, Tom? Runnin' overtime, I see."

"We're expectin' old Halliburton down soon," said Tom. "I heard the boss sayin' that the Colonel was comin' in with a boat. Says he's goin' to have all your timber before the bay freezes over."

"Yes—He'll get it when Hell freezes over."

"Bill Paisley," frowned the woman, taking her pipe from her mouth, "no swearin'—not here, if you please sir."

"Excuse me, Mrs. Ross," said Bill from behind his hat.

Tom kicked the visitor gently with his bare foot, and Mrs. Ross, resuming her smoke, went on:

What Prominent Ontario Women Say

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very beneficial during about ten days. My strength all left me. I was quite poorly, was nauseated and sick, could not eat anything and I was extremely nervous and weak. I took Favorite Prescription and it soon stopped the nausea, my appetite returned, and I ate and drank and I was soon feeling fine and strong. My baby was strong and healthy and I consider Favorite Prescription a great help to the expectant mother and an glad to recommend it."—MRS. AMOS MILLER, Box 328.

A HAMILTON WITNESS

Hamilton, Ont.—"A few months ago I was stricken down and confined to bed about ten days. My strength all left me. It was my first illness since a child. I lost five pounds and felt awfully weak afterward. I could hardly do any work. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in tablet form. I tried a couple of bottles and before I knew it, I was well and strong and had gained six pounds. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to build one up."—MRS. E. MARTIN, 397 Dundas St. W.

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her sex—with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

"We are feelin' the influence of education and refinement since Mr. Simpson has been boardin' here. No home that contains a teacher is a place for profligacy. Mr. Simpson says: 'Perfligacy,' says he, 'is the most useless sin of all sins. No gentleman swears.'"

Mrs. Ross roared and turned her swarthy face toward her visitor.

"Livin' in daily intercourse with an educated young man has its advantages. Look what Mr. Simpson has done for our Tom. Look at him, Bill Paisley, and tell me, don't you see a difference in that boy?"

"I do," said Bill slowly. "I sure do, wider, now you speak about it."

"That young man of education did it," said the widow. "The teacher did it all."

"Great Christopher Columbus but he's smarter than I thought him."

"That young man of education did it," said the widow. "The teacher did it all."

grinned Paisley. "Wonder if he'd cut mine?"

The widow turned her black eyes upon him.

"Cut yours?" she repeated. "What be you talkin' about?"

"Why, my hair," said Bill. "I said I wonder if he'd cut mine, sein' he's made such a good job of my hair."

Tom giggled and the woman turned her back on the two.

"Swine," she muttered; "bushwhacker swine."

"Where's the teacher to-night?" asked Bill blithely.

"Him and Mary Ann—" commenced Tom.

But his mother, turning, quickly advanced upon him, and catching him by the collar with one powerful hand, administered with the other such a cuff that young Tom went spinning to his corner. The many cat sneaked over and crept under Paisley's chair.

"And how is Mary Ann?" asked Bill after a time. "Ain't seen her but once or twice for the last month. I suppose she often speaks of me, Mrs. Ross?"

"Indeed she doesn't, then, so you needn't flatter yourself. Mary Ann's got no use for—Bushwhacker, let me tell you, she's a girl who would make a joke at his own mother's funeral. So, there."

Over made a joke at my mother's funeral it was 'cause I was too young to know better," said Paisley, who put his hands on his hips when I was born. I ought to be worth a whole heap, marn—I was bought at a big price, and I'm a good one. (To be continued)

Mother's Advice

The responsibility for a daughter's future largely rests with the mother. The right influence and the information which is of vital interest to the daughter imparted at the proper time has not only saved the life but insured the success of many a beautiful girl.

When a girl's thoughts become sluggish with headaches, dizziness, or a disposition to sleep, pains in back or lower limbs and a desire for solitude, her mother should come to her aid and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, will at this time prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities. Thousands of women testifying in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtues of this medicine, and what it has done for little daughters.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for my daughter. She was 15 years of age, very sickly and pale and she had to stay home from school most of the time. ## Growth of the Grain Elevator

The grain elevator system has grown enormously in Canada and developed rapidly in the last few years. This growth and development have so far been mainly confined to the Prairie Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, but the system is attracting more and more attention in the other provinces, particularly in Ontario, where several wheat growing and shipping centres, notably Toronto, are agitating for the erection of elevators. Nor is it only in numbers that the system has extended but the increase in size has been such that some of the structures can fairly be termed as mammoth, such for instance as those at the head of the lakes. There are, according to the Hon. George Langley, Minister of Municipal Affairs for Saskatchewan, not fewer than 3,600 elevators in the three provinces referred to, from 40 to 60 feet high and capable of storing from 20,000 to 30,000 bushels a piece on the average, a few reaching to twice the greatest enumerated capacity. In other words approximately of 110,000,000 bushels of wheat can thus be stored at one time. These facts and figures are taken from an interesting article by Mr. Langley in the September number of the Agricultural Gazette of Canada. By the terms of the Canada Grain Act, the owners of the elevators, mostly private individuals or incorporated companies, are compelled to accept, all grain offered by farmers, unless wet or unsuitable with safety, hence the general and common use of the system. The elevators are all licensed by, and are under the supervision of the Board of Grain Commissioners of Canada.

Farmers Are Warned

Information has come to the U. F. A. Central Office that some unauthorized persons are soliciting contributions for the big Membership Drive that is being planned. A report came in over the phone from the Staveland district that some were at work in that district soliciting contributions to the drive, unknown to the official workers.

The U. F. A. Central Office would like to warn farmers that anybody who is authorized to solicit contributions in connection with this drive is supplied with official receipt books, and that every canvasser has a written authorisation from the District Captain, who is usually one of the best known men in the district; so that there should be no difficulty in promptly ascertaining whether a canvasser is bona fide, if there is any doubt in the matter.

Concerning Cattlemen

Cattlemen on the Western Canadian ranches are reported to be seriously concerned about the uncertainty facing the export of cattle on the hoof to the United States. They fear that after the coming elections a tariff wall may be erected against the importation of stockers and feeders from the Dominion. Last year the value of the animals exported was roughly $50,000,000. This has been a growing trade since 1910 when 150,000 cattle were shipped over the line. In 1910, the total had risen to 342,000 and for the fiscal year ending March last, the figure was 516,000.

But there is a reassurance forthcoming. Canadian packers realize the seriousness of any threatened curtailment of livestock production and believe that if any tariff contingency had to be met they could fully take care of all the cattle that can be raised if two conditions are fulfilled. The "scrub" bull must go so as to raise the general quality of our beef and stock-raisers must provide a steadier supply than in the past. These two factors are the main drawbacks to the development of an export trade in beef similar to that which has proved for 25 years the mainstay of our bacon industry.

During 1919, out of 668,840 cattle marketed at stockyards for home slaughter, 359,418 graded "good" and 339,421 graded "common". That is, 48.5 per cent graded "common".

With so much unsuitable material to hamper, an export market cannot yet be established to compete with the high class beef from Argentina and Australia. But if quality is improved and supply well regulated, packers emphatically assure stockbreeders—and this applies to east and west—of a readiness to aid in opening and building up a valuable market for all beef animals bred on Canadian farms.

INDIAN WITCHCRAFT

The strange experience of O-ge-mas-es when Wus-ke-ninge, an Indian sorcerer, casts her evil spell.

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

In the early seventies, being in charge of a Hudson's Bay Post on Lake Manitoba, where poisoning by native Indian medicines was prevalent, evidence was brought before myself and the local missionary, making a serious charge against an old woman named Wus-ke-ninge who, it was claimed, had given poison to one of the tribe whereby he was in danger of losing his life and at that time was lying in a semi-paralyzed condition. We considered the evidence justified us in laying the matter before the nearest magistrate, some 60 miles distant, and, if possible, procuring a warrant for her arrest. It was decided that I should go in with the papers. The time was dead of winter and the lake was frozen solidly from shore to shore.

I finally decided to start alone the next evening and being the fortunate possessor of a splendid train of dogs looked forward to the trip with enjoyment. My dog train, consisting of four, deserves some description. Part Esquimaux, part wolf hound, tall, clean limbed animals, their usual gait was some six miles per hour, but if pressed they could easily outturn a horse. Once having passed over a route, the foregoer never swerved from a direct course whether a trail showed or not. Herod, Nero, Hero and Moro were their names and I loved them with a great love. Kindly natured and devoted to me, all they would attack anything I wished and were as courageous as lions. Often when viewing a wolf or fox on the ice I would let them out of their harness and if far enough from shore they would catch it and kill it before I could reach them. My cariole was, as usual, made from a birch tobogan with buffalo parchment sides and back, lined with fur, on its head a tripod with silver bells. On the collars of each dog were also tripods with bells, and Indian beaded saddle cloths made a very handsome outfit. Amongst the hangers-on around the Post was a half-breed named James Sinclair who, speaking both English and Cree fluently, was often employed by me as interpreter, my knowledge of the native language being at that time limited. Calling at the office before my departure he appeared to be uneasy in his mind and on my questioning him as to the trouble, he replied by a question: "Is it true, O-ge-mas-es (little clerk), that you are taking in law papers about that Indian witch?" When I replied in the affirmative, he begged me not to go or, if I would, then to take a companion. After some further questioning the truth became clear, he stating this woman was in league with bad spirits and that an evil influence would be sent with me or after me if I insisted on going. I naturally made light of this and, in fact, before starting out, had quite forgotten the matter. Evening came on and about 7.30 I whistled for my dogs which were trained to come to their places, hitched up and away we went. For some miles the trail through woods and then came the open lake, wind swept and some twenty-five miles of a traverse to a point called the Bluff. While I lay back in my cariole, comfortably wrapped in furs, the miles slipped by until I was about half way across. By this time a few fleecy clouds had come up, but the moon, stars and the northern lights made the sky still very light. A feeling suddenly came over me that I was no longer alone. Loth to disturb my comfortable position, I lay still for a few minutes until the feeling of a presence became stronger, and on sitting up in my cariole I saw to the left of the foremost dog about three feet above the ice, a ball of phosphorescent light, dancing along and keeping pace with the dogs, not more than thirty feet from me. This kept changing in size. At times as large as a football and at others not much bigger than a cricket ball. My first impression was that I was asleep, but rubbing my eyes, and kneeling up for a more careful inspection, I was convinced of the reality of it. Some minutes elapsed, when my attention was drawn to the way my dogs were travelling. Instead of swinging along in their usual free fashion with tails waving, they appeared cowed and on my speaking to them and endeavoring to draw their attention to this luminous light and setting them on it, for the first time in their lives they paid no attention to me, but simply stopped. This old dog driver, I then tried to stop them (as old dog drivers know, no reins are used, the train being governed and guided by voice alone) by gently calling "whoa!" Always they were delighted at this, would look around, stop and gently turn to avoid entanglement in the harness and then lick my face and hands. This time no attention was paid to my call. I was rather afraid they might run away, which would probably mean upsetting of the cariole and being left in the middle of the lake with my untrained companions. This light, after the lapse of an hour, as nearly as I could judge the time, became more erratic in its movements, making fancies in different directions; coming back quite close to the cariole and then flitting away. It struck me as remarkable that the dogs apparently would not look at it, and yet when it approached us closer I could see the hair bristling on their necks. Finally it began to move to the northeast towards a large bay called the Dog Hung Bay, where a poor white man was found frozen the winter previous; and, finally, appearing no larger than a cat's eye in the distance, disappeared.

Reaching the bluff I boiled the kettle and unloading the dogs fed them a little dried buffalo meat; but they were now conspicuous, seemed oppressed and would not respond to my caresses. Hitting up again I made my destination at breakfast time and during the course of the meal related my experience with the mysterious light. Finally this was dropped and the conversation turned to the object of my visit. The magistrate, after carefully examining the evidence, submitted as to the poisoning, decided to issue a warrant for the detention of Wus-ke-ninge, and this I was to take back with me.

After attending to some other business I returned to my post and found that the Indian woman had given to parts unknown. The same evening James Sinclair called and congratulated me on my safe return from what he evidently considered a dangerous mission. He finally asked: "Did you have a good trip?" On my replying "Yes," he said: "Did you see anything?" and like a flash the thought of the mysterious light came to my mind. I then remembered his former prophecy and told him the facts. He did not appear at all surprised; the light, he stated, was an evil spirit sent by Wus-ke-ninge which, if you had followed, nothing more, would have been heard of you.

Thinking it all over after Sinclair's departure; his first warning before I started, to the effect that some evil thing would be sent after me; again the extraordinary conduct of my usually fearless dogs and the uncanny appearance of the light which could not have arisen from the same cause as an "ignis fatuus" for there was from three to four feet of solid ice and a foot of snow all over the lake, made it one of the most uncanny experiences of my long residence in Northwest Canada.

I may add the old woman was not heard of again and we burnt her bark tepee with many medicine bags to the great satisfaction of all concerned. The poisoned Indian gradually recovered and never regained his former strength.

Have You Galls Stones Without Knowing It?

Not just a few, but a large part of Canada's population have. Yours may cause you stomach trouble, headache, indigestion or pains in the side. Others suffer with their bowels, bile, some nervousness. Some acute cases have all these symptoms. If you have any or all of them, make up your mind to try a course of "MAR-LATT'S SPECIFIC" medicine.

From all over the Dominion, letters are constantly arriving, expressing gratitude and unbounded joy for the return of health after using Marlatt's. These are at your disposal any time. Marlatt's Specific is a thorough system cleaner, yet perfectly harmless. It can be taken by young or old. It is guaranteed free from drugs of any description. One dose will be sufficient for you to decide whether you should complete the bottle.

"Marlatt's Specific" is for sale by nearly every druggist in Canada, but if your local druggist happens not to have it, write direct to J. W. Marlatt & Co., Toronto, Ontario.

Booklet free on application.

Carrying Dangerous Weapons

Local Authorities Should Check the Sale of Firearms.

Ottawa.—There is a law on the statute books to prevent the indiscriminate sale and improper possession of firearms in Canada, but it is doubtful whether that law is being properly enforced.

While protests against the increasing number of revolvers carried by persons in various cities of Canada are reaching Ottawa, officials here point out that there is a law to check the sale and carrying of dangerous weapons, if the provincial, municipal and city authorities wish to enforce it.

SHORT OF BREATH Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected, there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering, dizziness and a weak, sinking, alone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Croun, East Clifford, N.S., writes: "I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work my farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

Price 50c, a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Drastic Measures May be Taken in Dealing With Ireland

Message from the King

His Majesty is Grateful for the Reception Given the Prince of Wales.

London.—The King has sent the following telegram to governors of Dominions and States visited by the Prince of Wales on his recent Australasian tour.

"On the return home of the Prince of Wales I ask you to express to the people of the Dominion and colonies he visited, my heartfelt appreciation of the universal affection and loyal enthusiasm evinced towards him throughout his travels. These warm hearted and spontaneous manifestations of regard for our eldest son have deeply touched the Queen and myself.

"We have followed with pride and admiration the triumphant success of his mission and all the more so when we recognized that these happy results are chiefly due to his own personality, to the buoyant and jovial spirit in which he has played his part, to his sense of duty and to the unswerving manner in which he has given of his best.

"This and his previous tour have given him special opportunities to gain knowledge of our overseas Dominions and colonies and to become personally acquainted with their people.

"May such intercourse create fresh ties of confidence and devotion between the throne and the generations present and future of these great lands and thus promote the unity, strength and prosperity of the empire.

"To my son this wide and happy experience will ever be a priceless possession."

Foster Is Acting Premier.

Ottawa.—During the absence of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen from Ottawa, Sir George Foster, as the senior member of the private council, is acting as Prime Minister.

London.—Leaders of the Sinn Fein movement in Ireland say they regard the speech made at Carnarvon by Premier Lloyd George as "almost a declaration of war on Ireland," says the Dublin correspondent of the London Times.

There are many signs that the executive department in Dublin intends to bring things to a head as soon as possible by a concentrated campaign against disorder which, by inflicting general hardships on the country, may make crime and lawlessness truly unpopular.

Projected measures are said to include complete stoppage of the Irish railways, drastic reduction of the postal service until all railway workers agree to return to duty and until there is cessation of raids on the mails.

An Exchange telegram reports that the views of British officers who are serving with their regiments in Ireland, have been directed to proceed to their homes in Great Britain.

It was stated at the War Office that this order had not been issued on this side. It has, therefore, emanated from the Irish command.

The order places the troops in Ireland on absolute active service conditions. It has created a sensation in the country, because the only recent equivalent was the order for women and children to be removed from Mesopotamia.

Prospects for Cheap Sugar.

Toronto.—One hundred and twenty-five carloads of number one granulated sugar, enough to supply the entire city of Toronto for some time, was offered to a local candy-manufacturing concern at 16 cents a pound in Toronto, and was refused. It is stated here that the state of the sugar market in Canada is more shaky than for many years. In some of the stores in Toronto sugar is being sold at 18 1-2 cents a pound.

Growth of Canada's Elevator Capacity Has Been Very Rapid

The growth of Canada's elevator capacity has been very rapid and quite in keeping with the growth of the Dominion as producer of grain, especially wheat. In 1910, the wheat production of the whole Dominion was 47,867,000 bushels; in 1916 it had reached 370,000,000 bushels, the latter, however, being an exceptional year. During an average year the yield will run between 200,000,000 and 225,000,000 bushels. In 1901 the elevator capacity of the Dominion was 18,329,000 bushels, and as the capacity is now 226,250,000 bushels, it is evident that, if anything, the elevator capacity has run ahead of grain production.

But in this matter Canada has built not so much for the present as for the future. At present approximately 20 per cent. of the total land acreage of the prairie provinces has been taken up for agricultural purposes, less than 10 per cent. being improved, which shows the wonderful possibilities for grain production in this portion of Canada and the need of planning on a large scale the equipment necessary for the handling of it.

Hitherto practically all the grain from the west has passed out through the eastern outlet; but with an increase in freight rates ranging from 35 to 40 per cent., it is expected that a portion of the Alberta grain for export will go out through the port of Vancouver, making its way to Europe through the Panama Canal. In anticipation of such a development the Dominion Government built a large storage elevator at Vancouver several years ago.

A noteworthy feature of the growth of Canada's grain-handling facilities is the extent to which the farmers of the west have taken part in it. The two large western farmers' companies, the United Grain Growers and the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, handle a very large proportion of the western crop. The elevators of both companies, dotting the prairies, run up into the hundreds, and both have large storage plants at the head of the lakes. These large corporations are owned and managed by farmers, the combined number of shareholders being in excess of 50,000. The retaining for themselves of the profits resulting from the handling of a goodly portion of the western crop has contributed not a little to the prosperity of this large body of farmers during recent years.

Made Fortune From Sheep

Texas Will Give Lectures in Canada.

"Sheep queens" of the Texas range have been asked to lecture to audiences of fallen Canadian soldiers, and explain their "great adventure" to other women ambitious enough and keen enough to duplicate it on the Dominion prairies.

Two of the Texas women, Mrs. Juanette Hartwell, and her sister, Miss Donna Gardner, may accept the invitation. The sisters are daughters of a retired Chicago manufacturer, and own and manage ten sections of land in Farmer county, Texas, upon which 3000 sheep now graze and from which 30,000 sheep were sold during the past summer.

The signal success of these two "sheep queens" was heralded during the meeting of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association in San Angelo recently, and was responsible for the invitation to visit Canada on a lecture trip. The invitation came from the head of the Federated Women's Club of the Dominion, who wrote personal letters to Mrs. Hartwell and Miss Gardner.

The two young women also have been deluged with letters from working girls who are desirous of learning the ranching business. Marriageable men already in the sheep business in the southwest also sent in their quota of letters.

A desire to accomplish something worth while attracted the young women from their home in Chicago; they said during a visit to Fort Worth. They came in for Texas and at first went to the farming and for Jersey cattle raising. They met with several disastrous experiences from a financial standpoint.

They sold their farm and bought the ranch in Farmer county, a part of what was the old X I T cattle outfit. For their Jersey cattle they received just enough money to purchase 100 sheep and from this humble start their present business has sprung. Last spring and summer the two women brought 30,000 sheep to Texas from northwestern ranges where the sheep were threatened with starvation due to drought, and sold them to sheep breeders throughout West and Southwest Texas.

The women themselves are said to be expert sheep handlers and very successful in directing their Mexican herders. They maintain ranch headquarters at Bovina, Texas.

Hope of Mankind in Democratic Government Of Anglo-Saxon Races

Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, in speaking to a Canadian Bar Association said: "We are co-trustees of a very precious heritage, won at an unbelievable cost in blood and tears, which we must safeguard for ourselves and our children."

"The spring of the upward movement in democracy is in religion, not in law, and that must ever be, for children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light."

"We are all agreed that the form of government which conquered in England, as in the United States, has been best epitomized as Government of the people, by the people, for the people, and that it is the best form of government that the human race has been able to devise in its long millennium of its existence. But, said the Ambassador, I wonder how many realize what a tremendous revolution this relatively new idea is producing in all human relationships, or even how new the idea itself is, and how little it has been tested. Nor is that all, only a trifling minority of the peoples of the world understand it. I doubt if even in Europe there is a majority which understands it. I would have liked to be convinced that there is a majority really understanding it in favor of it in the British Isles. If the idea is to continue without serious set-back we, who believe in it, will have to stand firmly together, for there are powerful forces opposed to it."

"It is for us to maintain the heritage of freedom against assault from within and without, the priceless heritage of a great idea, conceived by the Nordic people, and slowly and painfully brought into practice in workable form in England, then brought here to America and developed, and then passed to the British Dominions, then transplanted into countries that have never understood it. And though at each transplantation it has been modified, its original catchwords have spread far and wide."

"It is now in danger from its popularity. Even its enemies try to conceal their actions behind its phrases. Whatever difficulties might arise between our nations, I believe that nothing is more important than that—that you and we should stand together to defend the hard-won hope of mankind, that through the law made by the people for their own disciplining, man will at least escape from the toils that have ensnared his ancestors, and will have taken a great stride towards the solution of the problem of how he, with his physical weaknesses and his mental strengths, shall live in communities in peace and ordered freedom; one with the other."

"Let me also remember that in a real democracy the law merely marks the line at which society must forcibly punish to save itself from disintegration, and that democratically-made laws can never hope to set the standard of life at which good citizens must aim. Each must find his star within the recesses of his own being; for it is the exact strength of the democratic practice of government that it sets no bounds to upward movement, it lays down no code of morals, it guarantees freedom to each, though it says sternly to the wreckers, 'Transgress, and you will be punished.'"

To Help Farmers

Saskatchewan Will Launch Campaign to Sell Farm Loan Debentures.

The province of Saskatchewan is preparing to launch a campaign for the sale of $3,500,000 farm loan debentures among the moneyed people of the province. The debentures bear interest at the rate of five per cent. payable half yearly, and are a direct obligation on the credit of the province, being redeemable at par by the government at any time upon three months notice.

What the government wants this money for is to finance needy farmers at a reasonable rate of interest. The provincial farm loans board has already loaned more than five millions since 1917, 2,700 farmers having taken advantage of the opportunity thus afforded to secure advances of cash at lower rates than are ordinarily possible for emergency uses. More than eight thousand applications for loans have been received but not enough cash was in the fund to satisfy them.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, provincial treasurer, in speaking of the campaign, explains that the government has no intention of displacing regular farm-loan companies, but rather to exert an influence on the cost of money to the farmer. His idea is that the people of Saskatchewan should rely more and more upon their own savings and earnings to finance the development of the province and as every activity depends primarily upon agriculture, he contends that it is a good business for the people to come to the aid of the farmer. This seems to be sound talk and will no doubt be appreciated by the farmers, who will benefit materially from the success of the campaign.

It is interesting to note, says the Calgary Herald in an editorial on the subject, that the campaign publicity work has been undertaken by the executive of the Saskatchewan Press Association, while municipal officials throughout the province will have charge of the organization and canvassing work. It looks as if every one in Saskatchewan had thus been enlisted as an active agent and that the success of the venture was already assured.

Alberta Wool Still Moving.

The Alberta Sheep Breeders' Association, which has its headquarters at Calgary, Alberta, has just sent forward another car of wool to Weston, Ontario. This makes seventeen carloads this year or 338,388 pounds of wool.

It is interesting to note that this wool has been sent in by 575 contributors. Further contributions are expected from members of the association of about 29,000 pounds, which will bring the total weight up to 367,488 pounds.

Need for Development

Large Areas in Saskatchewan Waiting For Railway Facilities.

Oats are reported to be an excellent crop this year in the Turfville district, north of Battleford, in Central Saskatchewan, and will consequently provide an abundance of good feed both in grain and straw. Green feed is also a bumper crop and should this winter be in a long one, there will be plenty of fodder to supply all needs.

Many settlers of desirable type have arrived here this year. Many of them have come from the Old Land and are beginning to prove themselves valuable assets to their new country.

The general feeling is that this country holds great possibilities as a farming country of the best type. All that is needed is development.

North of Turfville, at Spruce Lake, lies valuable farming land as yet unattractive because of the lack of railroad, telephone and other conveniences. This country, according to one resident's statement, "has not known a total failure." Wheat went as high as $2 bushels to the acre last year, and graded fairly high all the time. This only indicates the tremendous possibilities of the country, which today calls loudly for development.

Wise Old Britain

Accepts Advice Courteously and Carries on With No Remonstrance.

Britain is old and wise. She knows how to accept advice courteously, with a smile, as the accepted Roosevelt's lesson on how to govern Egypt, as she accepted Wilson's instructions on how to win the sea war. Her smile is perhaps a trifle van in the present harassing circumstances, but she carries on without angry retort. She picks up a Canadian to hold the position of Chief Secretary of Ireland, so that Canada and the world may see that it is not altogether a native British brutality that is to blame. Sir Hamar, presumably as kindly as all Canadians, finds himself responsible for measures of coercion to cope with a serious situation. Britain might expect that the lesson would not be lost on Canada. Instead she finds herself in constant receipt of instructions from Sir Hamar's co-trustees. Still she utters no remonstrance. She has learned that the work counts, not the "instant need of praise," that she will be judged by all sane thinkers on her whole record, and that the hasty judgment of rash enthusiasts may be disregarded meanwhile. She is too old to feel angry. Canada may well learn from her against the time she too will be a "mummy" among nations.—Border Cities Star.

Many Are Willing

English Women Anxious to Wed this Alberta Farmer.

Asked by an Alberta farmer to find him a wife, the Preston Guardians have received a post-bag containing 66 "applications for the post." The letters are mainly from women in Lancashire, Yorkshire and Birmingham, but London is not unrepresented.

Several contain quaint stipulations. "I shall expect you to get up and heat milk for baby during the night," writes one woman. Another lays down that "You will have to be a kind and loving husband. I shall expect to be waited upon hand and foot." Let me have my own way. My word must be law. I shall expect you to comb my hair every night, black my boots, and allow me to go to the pictures."

The third specimen letter contains the confession: "I am very domesticated and fond of cigarettes."

Birds Affected By Fog

Curiously, although human beings are utterly bewildered by a fog, most animals find their way through it with very little difficulty. A horse will trot along in its right direction as though the air were perfectly clear, and not only that, but will take the right turning at the right moment if it is at all accustomed to the road. Birds, on the other hand, are utterly bewildered by fog. Pigeons, for instance, will remain motionless all day long, half asleep, huddled up in their pigeon houses. Chickens and poultry of all kinds won't stir all the time a heavy fog is about.

About 30 ounces of gutta serena is obtained from one tree.

Pulp Industry of B.C.

Pacific Coast May Soon Become the Centre of Production.

The rapidly growing pulp and paper industry of British Columbia is soon to be augmented by additional plants. A New York company, says The Daily Financial News, of San Francisco, will build a mill at Kitima, some miles north of Prince Rupert, and a Japanese firm has acquired a tract of lumber on Louis Lake in the Queen Charlotte group, with the intention of erecting a plant as soon as the financial situation in Japan clears up.

The following plants are in operation in British Columbia at the present time: Powell River Pulp and Paper Company, Powell River, British Columbia; Whalen Pulp and Paper Company, Whalen, at Quatsino and Swanton Bay; Pacific Mills, Ocean Falls; Beaver Cove Pulp and Sawmills, Beaver Cove.

The Japanese market has in the past been handled chiefly by the Ocean Falls plant, the largest on the coast. The Powell River Company also does a large export trade, but in the main with the Antipodes. The latter firm, which is the oldest established in British Columbia, has also a firm grip on the home market, supplying newspaper needs from the coast to Saskatoon in the East, and South along the coast as far as San Diego.

As is well known, the supply of pulpwood in the pulp producing regions of the Lake States and in New England is beginning to show signs of exhaustion, and the Pacific Coast must soon become the centre of production on the continent.

The Sunflower As Fuel

The scarcity and high price of both wood and coal have directed attention to the sunflower as a possible source of fuel. Land is too poor to produce crops will produce sunflowers, though they do better, of course, with fertilizer and cultivation. An acre of land will produce about three cords of stalks, some of which will be two or three inches in diameter. The seeds make excellent food for cattle and hens, or they can be ground for oil. Any farm boy who has had to cut hickory or rock-mound firewood will hail the sunflower as a public benefactor.—Youth's Companion.

Value of Oat Straw

For Feeding Dairy Cows it is Superior to Timothy.

According to average analyses, 100 pounds of oat hay will contain the following digestible nutrients: 45 pounds of protein, 381 pounds of carbohydrates, and 1.7 pounds of fat, or a total of 464 pounds digestible nutrients. This hay will be superior to timothy for feeding dairy cows because it contains over one-third more protein. This will hold particularly true where protein feeds are high in price and difficult to secure. Ordinarily carbohydrate feeds, such as corn and barley, are relatively cheaper in price than protein feeds, such as gluten and oil meal, which are necessary to supplement staples of corn silage and timothy hay.

Clover and alfalfa hay are superior to oat hay, but mixed timothy and clover is practically the same in feeding value as oat hay.

To obtain the best quality of hay, the oats should be cut when in the flower or when the grain is in the early milk stage. If left until a later stage, the stems and leaves become somewhat more indigestible and are less palatable. Also the protein content is somewhat less where the grain is allowed to practically reach maturity.

Pulverized Coal

Saskatchewan Lignites Said to be Equal to the Best Anthracite.

A pulverized coal furnace will be erected in Winnipeg soon, for demonstration purposes, J. C. Newton announced recently, after he had explained the economy of pulverized coal for domestic purposes to about one hundred business men.

Mr. Newton undertakes to prove by demonstration that Manitoba and Saskatchewan lignites are as satisfactory for heating purposes when pulverized as the finest Pennsylvania anthracite. We further undertake to show that a saving of more than thirty per cent. net to the householders can be effected.

Canada's New War Vessels

Will Undoubtedly Prove to be Nucleus of Canadian Navy.

"I am much pleased with the vessels which the British Government has given to Canada and consider that they should prove a very efficient nucleus for a Canadian navy," said Capt. Hose, R.C.N., acting director of naval service, to the Canadian Press. Capt. Hose has just returned from England where he went to take over the ships from the admiralty, inspect them, and report to the ministry what changes were necessary before they would be ready for service in Canadian waters.

At present, the vessels are undergoing necessary repairs and re-fitting and the actual date of their sailing for Canada is uncertain. Capt. Hose said that the cruiser Aurora, and the two destroyers, Patriot and Fabrician, were all oil-burners, which had given a very satisfactory account of themselves during the war. Although they were not engaged in any battles during the war, they were of the very best type of their size in the English Channel. The majority of the officers, said Capt. Hose, would be Canadians, who had seen war service.

Prince Impressed With Tour

Remarks on Ties of Sentiment Binding the Different Parts of Empire.

Speaking on landing in England from the battle cruiser, Renown, the Prince of Wales said: "I have visited two great self-governing dominions and British colonies. British institutions are not in the same state of development in all these British lands, but everywhere, without exception, the spirit is the same. I return most deeply touched and impressed by the unity and strength of sentiment which binds all parts of the dominions to the crown and makes the future of the British Empire secure, so firm and clear is this devotion to this ideal and to the King. I am looking forward now to great developments in those dominions, and with these developments, restoration of our credits in the world's markets."

Stuffy Head Cleared By "Catarrhazone"

To catarrh victims we have just one word of advice—cure it now. The remedy is "Catarrhazone." That it will cure permanently you cannot doubt. Catarrhazone has cured thousands of cases; it will cure you, too.

It acts in two ways: First, it destroys the germ—that checks the progress of the disease. Its second action is to heal the sore places the germs caused. Nice to think of breathing little drops of healing. Every part of the lungs, bronchial tubes and nasal passages. It is such a thoroughness that makes Catarrhazone so effective in grippe, catarrh and colds. Then by its sedative influence upon the mucous surface it clears away the cough and throat tenderness very quickly. We owe something to a science that has given us Catarrhazone—that wonderful remedy which so surely enables us to permanently cure disease of the breathing apparatus. We all know that stomach dosing is useless, and this departure in the mode of treatment is an advance in medical science that everybody can appreciate and value. Complete outfit of Catarrhazone, which is guaranteed to cure any case of catarrh, asthma, bronchitis or throat troubles, lasts three months, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; trial size, 25c, sold everywhere.

Urge Uniform Game Laws.

Germana Cannot Deliver. The Argentina Government was notified by a German shipyard concern at Emden, which prior to the war undertook the construction of a 40,000-ton floating dock for Argentina at a cost of $300,000, that the dock was completed, but the shipyard was unable to fulfill its contract to tow it to Buenos Aires because of lack of shipping facilities. Unless the Argentine Government is willing to provide towage the shipyard says it will be obliged to retain the dock and refund half the cost which Argentina paid on account.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Can Only Find Relief By Enriching the Blood.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but it is not the cause. The cause is in the blood and the blood only. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints followed by sharp pains throughout the flesh and muscles, these are the symptoms of poison in the blood which will shortly leave the victim pained and helpless.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism, and that is through the blood. Liniments, hot applications, and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by the rich, red blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make.

This new blood drives out the poisons, acid and impurities, and the rheumatism disappears. If you are a sufferer from this painful malady begin the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away, leaving behind new energy and new health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Local & General

A gang of about a dozen men are busy at work on the erection of the new elevator of the Alberta Pacific Elevator Co., which will take the place of the one recently destroyed by fire.

A meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs.
A. W. Gordon, on Saturday, Oct.
30th, commencing at 3 p. m. A large attendance is requested. Important business.

The Thanksgiving supper and entertainment at Inverlea Schoolhouse brought out about 100 people, all of whom enjoyed themselves very much.
Mr. Wallock sang "When you come home," and "Off to Philadelphia" for an encore. His songs were enthusiastically received. Mr. Robert Whitfield, Junr., played "The Lost
Chord," as a cornet solo in fine style.
Mr. Belshaw handled the Magic Lantern very satisfactorily, while
Mr. Swenerton gave the lecture on "Scotland in Song and Story."
Prohibition songs were sung and Mr. Alex Moore, M.L.A., gave a very able address on the subject and altitude of the Legislature.

In addition to the fine supper which had been provided by the ladies of Inverlea, there was an auction sale of pies and cakes with
Mr. Hugh Ballam as auctioneer, and Mr. Sam Fleming clerk. The total receipts amounted to $41.50. The people are hoping to have another community gathering in the near future, if weather conditions permit and suitable arrangements can be made.

NOTICE: On and after the 30th of October, 1920, the Hall known as the Oddfellows Hall will be Closed for public use.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

TAX RECOVERY ACT

TO ALL PARTIES WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Take notice that the provisions of the Tax Recovery Act are operative for the year 1920 within the bounds of every Municipality, Urban and Rural, and every Improvement District of the Province of Alberta.

The land will be advertised for sale as soon after August 14 as possible, by the Municipal Taxing Authority, and on the day and hour and at the place mentioned in the advertisement, will be sold for the taxes in arrears as of date December 31st, 1919, together with the costs. Owners, mortgagees, encumbrances, and any others interested should communicate with the municipal authority levying the tax. The arrears and costs may be paid up to the time of sale, and after the sale there is one year for the redemption of the land.

J. H. LAMB,

Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs.
